Transition from the County Jail

Westchester County Jail offers an array of programs to assist in effective community reentry. Programs are designed to support behavioral awareness and change through educational services, substance abuse treatment services, life skills services, transitional services, housing, mental health treatment, and anti-violence intervention. The majority of programs available to within the facility offer continued support in the Westchester community.

Listed below are examples of available programming. For a complete list of programs available to County Jail inmates, contact the Director of Program Development at bdlc@westchestergov.com.
